<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Dr. Earls is a great addition to the History Department she allows for there to be a focus on the historical content of non-American content. This course was unique because it allowed students to understand history by the indigenous people and how they were impacted by imperialism. Dr. Earls was always a bright ray of sunshine that tried to make the class as enjoyable as possible by making sure that there was music related to course content or videos to help show the history without explaining it. The only issue with the course is that sometimes it got confusing to go back and forth from all of the imperial powers, where it might have made more sense to chunk or sections of the different imperial powers like a certain amount of weeks on France imperialism, then Dutch, and so forth and then end with combining them all together and adding the reflection/analytical component. The Independence Demos was very unique and not something that many students are able to do and were a great experience for all students not just the history majors. The acting components of the class were cringe at times, but it allowed the students to put themselves in the shoes of the indigenous. Using Slack is great and all professors should take a hint from Dr. Earls and start using it because it allows easy communication between the professor and the students, where it even allowed communication for group projects that the professor could monitor. Dr. Earls is the shining jewel of Mercyhurst and like all professors deserve more recognition and appreciation from Mercyhurst for keeping students on campus and not transferring to other colleges. Awesome teacher. This is my favorite class I have taken in college so far. Dr. Earls is a gem
